HEAD GAMES

In 2014, local soccer legend Pablo Mastroeni returned to the Colorado Rapids to take over as coach and immediately led the team to one of its worst records ever. Now he has a plan that might just save the squad.

THAT'S A BIG DEAL IN A HIGHLY COMPETITIVE DINING LANDSCAPE. AND WHILE THESE PLACES MAY NOT BE PERFECT—YET—YOU'RE GUARANTEED TO TASTE, AND FEEL, GREATNESS AT EACH ONE. THESE ARE THE EATERIES DRIVING OUR DINING CULTURE FORWARD. GO, EAT...AND ENJOY!

STOIC & GENUINE

Union Station, 1701 Wynkoop St., 303-640-3474, stoicandgenuine.com

At Stoic & Genuine, the veteran team of Jennifer Jasinski, Beth Gruitch, and Jorel Pierce has crafted a seafood house that would feel right at home on either coast. Start with a glass of bubbly at the bar, then move to the food. The lunch and dinner menus are identical, which means the whole selection of fresh catch—which balances tradition (crab legs with drawn butter) with creativity (flash-seared scallops with delicate lemon-grass panna cotta and Thai curry)—is available in LoDo whenever you get the craving.

ORDER THIS
Oysters; crudo; crispy whole haddock with Fresno chiles; octopus; broccoli salad

DON'T MISS
The granitas, both in cocktails and as oyster accompaniments; seats at the raw bar

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT
Service can be distracted and, at times, lacking in knowledge

Clockwise from top left: Stoic & Genuine's clam and mussel "chowder" with seared salmon; the raw bar's offerings; the best seat in the house
